Here is the shell, the hollow
Out of which flowed an abundance of Knowledge and experiences
All was available to our spongelike minds
And it was soaked up through the
Men and women who were our teachers

There will be others, many others
All just as important in
The formation of our knowledge
But just as a tree grows from its roots
So serves John Jay as the roots of our education

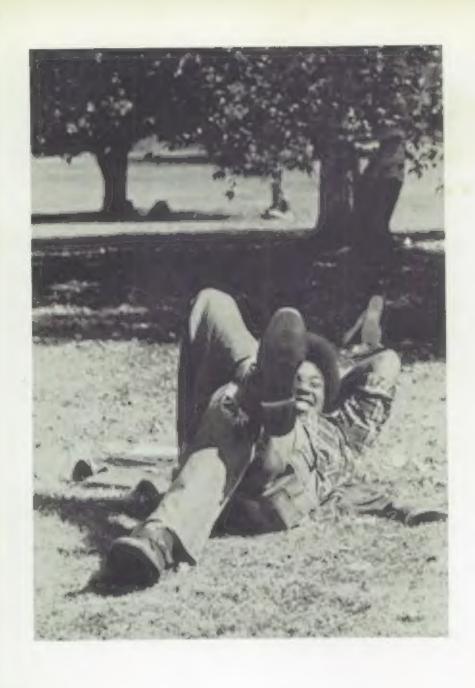

Philosophers tell us

Just as scientists derive

That we may never pass this way again

And if it be so
Should we not
Live our lives to the fullest
And enjoy it the best we can

Let it abound with experiences

Both pleasurable and disheartening

For those that depress us,
Along with teaching us,
Make our pleasures more pleasurable

We the staff of Statesman 74 would like to express our thanks to all the participants of this year's Variety Show and those of the shows of recent years for their contributions to the yearbook. Without the involvement of many students under the guidance of Mr. Gil Freeman, the Variety Show would not have been possible.

The Variety Show continues to be one of the most successful events of the school year and has provided THE STATESMAN with a considerable portion of the necessary funds for its publication. The yearbook would not be possible without the generous contributions of the show.

Once again we thank not only the Variety Show but also each individual who helped make this year's show what in our opinion was one of the finest Variety Shows ever produced

It is very difficult to say goodbye to someone who has contributed so much to John Jay as Mr. Finlayson. For nearly thirty years he has developed the music program of the district from its beginnings at the Katonah High School to what it is today — a large program involving hundreds of students in musical experiences ranging from vocal singing to a jazz ensemble.

It is no easy task to stand before seventy-five students and, over a period of several months develop their individual sounds into one sound that has so often been called one of the finest in the area. It takes a man with not only a great knowledge and feeling for music, but also one who is helpful a great teacher and always will not be extend his talents to the use of his students.

The students of John Jay would like to thank Mr. Finlayson for his many years of dedicated service. We will be left with many fine memories of a great person and his outstanding contributions to our school.

Dear Miss Callenius.

How do we express our appreciation to a talented and dedicated teacher like you who has touched the lives of literally hundreds of students with the gift of your knowledge, your concern, your example, and your love?

Each of us will remember you in our special way. Some of us you introduced to the gods on Olympus in our mythology elective. Those of us who were your Latin students will always see you dressed in a toga at a Roman banquet celebrating Caesar's victories in Gaul and our final conquest of the ablative case. A number of us will remember you as a demanding but patient tutor who helped us win mastery over the introduces of written communication. Time will never erase our memory of your debut as a dancer in the faculty ballet or your memorable impersonation of Martha Mitchell in Variety 74. But most of us will remember those quiet, personal moments when we first became aware that we were in the presence of a beautiful person who truly cared.

Miss Callenius, your modesty and our respect deter us from lavishing any meaningless adjectives and cliches upon you. We simply want to say that we take great pride in dedicating our book to you. John Jay will miss you.

faculty

Signs of the Zodiac have been used this year to describe faculty members. The individual write-ups used in previous yearbooks have indicated only positive or negative aspects of a teacher, depending upon the personal biases of the writer. This year the write-ups reflect the more objective conclusions of astrology and may reveal similarities and differences never before considered

For everything there is a season, and a time for every purpose under heaven

A time to be born, and a time to die.

A time to plant, and a time to pluck up what is planted,

A time to kill, and a time to heal,

A time to break down, and a time to build up;

A time to weep, and a time to laugh;

A time to mourn, and a time to dance;

A time to cast away stones and a time to gather stones together,

A time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;

A time to seek, and a time to lose;

A time to keep, and a time to cast away;

A time to rend, and a time to sew;

A time to deep silence, and a time to speak,

A time to love, and a time to hate,

A time for war, and a time for peace.

Andrew Dunlop 1956-1971

Brief were my days among you, and briefer still the words I have spoken.

But should my voice fade in your ears, and my love vanish in your memory, then I will come again,

And with richer heart and lips more yielding to the spirit will I speak.

Yea, I shall return with the tide,

And though death may hide me, and the greater silence enfold me, yet again will I seek your understanding,

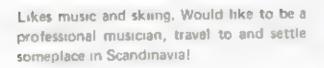

And not in vain will I seek.

If aught I have said is truth, that truth shall reveal itself in a clearer voice, and in words mere kin to your thoughts.

thank you, mr. curry

At this time we, the editors of Statesman '74, would like to express our sincerest thanks to you, Mr Curry. Without your in-depth knowledge and technical advice, the publication of this book would not have been possible. Your devotion to the school, yearbook, and especially to our staff has been exhibited in your true "Hawkeye" fashion. Few can appreciate the amount of work that goes into a publication such as this. The hours of planning, drafting, typing, and finalizing are tedious and time consuming. No, not many would have involved themselves to the extent that you have. We appreciate your allowing us freedom of the press, but we were always aware of your presence when assistance was needed. We thank you for your time and effort, and especially for your unfaltering dedication

Juniors

Faster than a leaping builtfrog but just as green comes this year's junior class. Leaving countiess memories of sophomoric humility behind, they, without much ado, enter an age of unlimited disasters. Among them the obvious driver ed., chemistry labs, and other embarrassing spectacles. And then there is the not so obvious ... like the junior prom, a chance at powder puff football, and a chance at Math 11

But alas, were is not the final word, For in the end love conquers all. Between "sweet sixteen" and Cierasil, what could be better? And then there are out advisors. Anthony Sakolsky

We have fond memories of one of our classmates, Tony Sakolsky. Although he was new to our school, he quickly adjusted and made friends. He was never afraid to say "Hi" or encourage you, and was someone who brightened your day with a smile or a quick joke. As a reserve quarter-back on the varsity football team, his enthusiasm and cheerfulness helped in giving the team that "extra lift" during the season. He was always ready to give of himself to his friends or to the school. Tony's spirit and happiness shall always remain in our hearts

Sophomores

As they shed the ways of the junior high and take on those of the senior high, sophomores find themselves being lowered from top of the ladder to bottom rung. This traumatic and degrading situation hits the new arrival straight in the face and makes it feel as if he's accomplished nothing during his freshman year.

Nevertheless, the sophomore grits his teeth and closes his eyes as he is swept away into the new surroundings among chaotic juniors and seniors.

It is a rough journey — getting lost the first few weeks, then adjusting and settling down to a good pace only to find that he is too involved for safety. And indeed many would be carried away with the tides if it weren't for the lengthy sweeping arms of guidance that radiate from their class advisor, Mr. Wirchansky

foreign exchange students

Maria Ana Servando Rotor is the rather formidable name for the girl we at John Jay have come to know as Annette In September Annette came to our campus from far away Manila in the Philippines. She comes from a friendly family that has hosted many exchange students from numerous countries

Annette's year long visit with us was under the sponsorship of our local Rotary Club. Her older brother and sister were also exchange students to the United States

In completing her senior year here Annette has been active in the Spanish Club, Statesman, Pathfinders and was a volunteer at Northern Westchester Hospital. She also went on the Canadian Trip with the French Club in April.

She has addressed many groups such as the scouts, Rotary Club and classes at John Jay sharing her knowledge of her country with us.

Ana Rotor
Exchange student from the Philippines

Mary Kuric Exchange student to Japan

If you can't picture Mary Kuric, it is sufficient to say that she is one of John Jay's tall, lithe, and lovely girls. She chose to spend her senior year away from us. She won a scholarship from the Katonah Rotary Club to visit Japan for ten months. This was fortuitous for Mary has that graceful Oriental quality about her (despite her height). She has a quiet dignity in her mannerisms which is characteristic of the East.

Mary is also very active and athletic. She was very much involved here with the Program for Letchworth as well as taking a strong interest in our athletic program. Now she is studying Karate in Japan and has earned a brown belt. She has had other interesting experiences such as living in a Buddhist monastery. After Mary returns home, she will be attending Radcliffe

The John Jay Indians, under the direction of Ron Lyons, Mike Repp, and Lou Pesce, turned in another fine year. The team had an outstanding season, winning the UWPL crown for the fourth straight time. The defense gave up only 14 points in the first eight games before the team's sole loss to Rye in the sectionals. girls' field hockey

As defending league champs, this year's varsity team had a tough reputation to live up to, not to mention their having an almost totally new squad. They were off to a good start by winning their first 4 games. But for this team it was the year of the "tie". The team couldn't seem to win but refused to lose, finishing off with a 4-3-1 record. The varsity qualified for the N.Y.S. Sectionals but lost in a close game with Pawling. Barb Gunder and Mary Beth Von Oeshen placed both on the All-League and Stuyvesant Association teams. The young J.V. team showed their skill and spirit by closing with a winning season. Miss Jones's love of the sport and enthusiasm inspired the girls in both victory and defeat.

varsity volleyball

Volley ball when played correctly is a very exciting and challenging game. There are fewer "do's" then illoo't sill When you have these all memorized then you work on the placement of that means putting the ball where the opposing players arenoted. This technique has been in use in John day for the past two years and has produced two winning seasons. This year was very successful considering the team had only one player returning from last year's squad. Though they ended the season with 9 wins and 3 disses it was not ago I enough to win a trophy. The nexperienced team was under the supervision of a new coach who is a recognized volley half in ayer in her own right. (She has prayed in the Nationals i John Jay is racky to have her talent and "know how and should be thankful that she was too short to become an Olympic star.

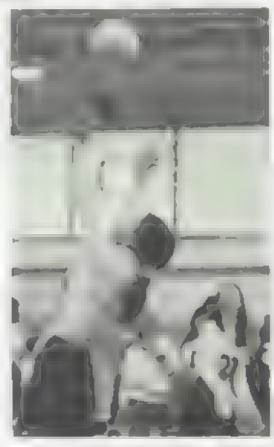

j.v. volleyball

We of the STATESMAN Sports staff wish to devote this ENTIRE page to the J.V. teams, including some action shots. We feel that in the past they have been neglected, and would like to try to make up for their omission. These individuals are future varsity players, and are given credit for less talent than they possess (I'll tell you a secret . . , they often beat the varsity during practice.) They know what they're doing and get good results. Experience is all that is lacking

The J V. team was very large. A fair amount of the talent came from the junior high. The team was about the shortest we've had in a long time, but they were also the best. They learned from the very few losses they had, and they are expected to do good things in the near future.

basketball

Fate acts in strange ways and an example of this can be seen in this years varsity basketball team. Early in the season it looked as if we might have a shot at the league title as we won our first four outings. The team then hit the skids and we plumeted into sixth place and finished there. Our bright spot of the season was Robbie Turnidal who averaged 18 points a game and was named to the all league team. With the team being half juniors next year should be a year of comeback for John Jay.

acknowledgements

We the Editors of Statesman 74 would like to acknowledge the help of several individuals who helped make possible the publication of this book

Mr. Richard Curry — for his photographic genius, his organizational ability and his dedication to Statesman '74

Mr. Gilbert Freeman - for his generous financial assistance to Statesman

Mrs. Thelma Goldberg — for her efforts in balancing the budget

Mrs Joseph Lawler - for her contribution of countless sports photos used in Statesman 74

Mr. Keith J. Milone — for his dependability and artistic talent in designing our cover and providing us with several illustrations.

Mr. Dave Vaughn — for his smiling, friendly face throughout the taking of senior pictures

As well as the entire faculty who tolerated the class absences of the editors
